St Pauls Mews

St Pauls Mews comprises a terrace of classically inspired townhouses built in the late 1980s to a design by the noted architects CZWG. This particular property has been entirely refurbished by the current owner, working in conjunction with the architect Tony Michael, with cantilevered open-tread stairs, exposed brickwork, grey timber flooring and recessed lighting. It has been designed with entertaining in mind, and has a built-in sound system. The property would work equally well as a primary residence or a pied à terre.

St Pauls Mews is a cobbled private road with entryphone access. Parking is available on a first-come, first-served basis. It is approximately equidistant between the Underground stations at Camden Town (Northern Line), Kentish Town (Northern Line) and Caledonian Road (Piccadilly Line). Camden Road train station is close at hand, and there are Overground services from Kentish Town and Caledonian Road. The house is also well placed for access to King's Cross, which offers Eurostar and National Rail services. As part of the major redevelopment of the area, King's Cross contains a number of excellent new restaurants, and there are further facilities available in both Camden Town and Kentish Town.
